INTRODUCTION

This opinion poll was designed to gauge the views of those living in Wales of the forthcoming Welsh Assembly on 5th May 2011.

METHODOLOGY

The opinion poll consisted of 1005 structured telephone interviews, conducted with Welsh voters between 4th April and 5th April 2011 and 44 surveys completed online within the same timeframe. This totals 1049 surveys.

The telephone interviews were conducted at RMG:Clarity's in-house CATI (Computer Assisted Telephone Interviewing) Unit. Respondents were contacted during the day and in the evening.

For the telephone survey target numbers of interviews were set according to parliamentary constituency population. After interviewing, the online data was merged with the telephone data and the survey was weighted by parliamentary constituency, socio-economic group, gender, age group, household tenure and Welsh language skills in order to provide the most representative result possible.

The overall election prediction is calculated from question Q2a and Q2b. The results have also been weighted by likelihood to vote (Q1). Those who stated they were certain to vote are weighted 1, those who said '9', 0.9 and so on. Only those who gave an answer of 5 or more have been included in the overall prediction. Those who said 'don't know/refused' at both Q2a and Q2b were not included in the prediction.

Full weighted and unweighted tabulations are included in this report.

The following discussion uses the weighted results.
